Dear Bill,

We are very pleased that you will be participating as keynote luncheon speaker at our October 14 conference on "Terrorism and Industry: Threat and Responses." I am enclosing an agenda for your review as well as a partial list of participants. As we get closer to the conference date, I will send you a more complete list.

The conference will be held in the International Club Building, 1800 K Street, in the Wadsworth Room on level B1. It is most convenient to enter through the International Club on 18th Street then walk down the one flight to the B1 level. You should plan to arrive at 11:45 a.m. as the luncheon begins at 12:00.

Dr. Yonah Alexander and I are mainly responsible for the content of the program but the management is being handled by Stanford Research Institute (SRI).

SRI is hosting a welcoming reception on Sunday evening, October 13 at the Mayflower Hotel. I do hope that you and Mrs. Casey will be free to join us. Please see the enclosed invitation.

Again, I am deeply grateful for your contribution to this important meeting.

Cordially,

Ray S. Cline
Senior Adviser

STRATEGIC STUDIES CENTER

5 September 1985

In the wake of growing concern surrounding the vulnerability of the United States to terrorist activities, the Strategic Studies Center of SRI International is offering industry the opportunity to participate in an important forum on this subject.

Terrorist activity is expected to grow in intensity in the coming years and indeed will likely increase in incidence in the United States. Countermeasures taken by industry now could mitigate possible damage to our nation and conceivably act as a deterrent. The planned seminar is designed to provide senior executives with information appropriate to such countermeasures planning.

This one-day seminar will be held in Washington, D.C., on Monday, October 14, 1985, at The International Club. Attendance will be limited to 125 participants. Enclosed is an agenda. We hope that you will be able to participate in this most significant and timely event and look forward to your response by completing the enclosed registration form.

INTERNATIONAL TERRORISM: THE THREAT TO INDUSTRY

The conference panels are organized to provide the attendees an opportunity for dialogue with senior U.S. and international experts. Representatives from the international community are from countries that have had to deal with the harsh realities of the growing terrorist threat, (e.g., Israel, Germany, Spain, Great Britain, and Italy). The panelists will discuss the severity of the threat and possible actions required on the part of governments and the business community to counter that threat. The strategic implications of the threat will be addressed from the perspective of national security and the conduct of business. Emphasis will be placed on providing attendees with the information necessary for analysis of trends and their implications for corporate strategic planning.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Public Affairs
FROM: Director of Central Intelligence
SUBJECT: Speech on Terrorism

I'd like to poke around and pull together some material on terrorism a little fresher than my keynote at the Fletcher School, including some of the stuff I asked him to do on getting on the high road, some focus on the obligation of local governments to deal with terrorists on their turf, how well other countries can help them through legal processes and otherwise. Salvador's response to the killing of the American Marines there is an example of how it should be done.

The Honorable William J. Casey
 Director
 Central Intelligence
 Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Bill,

I am very pleased that you said at the VOSS party you would be willing to accept my invitation to be the Keynote Speaker at a conference on terrorism. We have scheduled a major symposium on "Terrorism and Industry: Threat and Responses," at the International Club on October 14, 1985. I hope you can make it.

This meeting is being organized by the Strategic Center of SRI (Stanford Research Institute) International and SIFT, Inc., my private consulting company. Participants will include Chief Executive Officers of American industries and senior level experts from the U.S. and abroad. We feel they ought to get the word.

The purpose of the conference would be education in the service sector. It will provide a forum for senior U.S. management to gain insight into the potential terrorist threat and to discuss the implications and possible countermeasures. We hope that this meeting would increase the awareness of management at all levels about the specific nature of the threat and the range of responses available to industry and government.

I will send you details of the conference as soon as they become available. I will look forward to your reply.

With best wishes,

Ray S. Cline
